

Dear Maple Place Educational Community:

I truly hope that this email finds you well during these unprecedented times. I would also like to commend our students and staff for making the first phase of our virtual learning a success. At this point all of our students have equitable access to technology and our amazing teachers are prepared to move forward with creative and unique online learning opportunities.

Starting Monday, March 23rd, our primary platform for remote learning will be Google Classroom. While we will continue to use a variety of valuable resources, students should begin checking their teacher's Google Classrooms for assignments and feedback daily.

All of our students are also asked to check the Maple Place School Google Classroom for daily updates, morning announcements, and information associated with Related Arts courses, as well as the guidance and health offices. The code for students to join this platform is logrf7k. Directions on how to join the Maple Place School Google Classroom can be found here, and on the district website. While this will never replace the positive interactions and relationships our school is known for, it is our hope that this will allow us to maintain a sense of community during these challenging times.

We will remain strong in the coming days, and we will rely on each other as we collaboratively learn and grow together. Your patience, understanding, and support is greatly appreciated.

Please keep the pride that characterizes the Maple Place Chargers at the forefront of all you do, and let us know if you need anything at all. We are here for you.

Sincerely,

Matthew Howell
Principal
